Forks, Knives, & Spoonbills Conservation Dinner

at Keowee Key

Join the South Carolina Wildlife Federation at The Club for a six-course, wine-paired conservation dinner featuring dishes inspired by imperiled bird species created by Executive Chef Shane White. This year's featured species include the Eastern meadowlark, the little blue heron, the Eastern screech owl, the brown-headed nuthatch, the red-winged blackbird, and of course, the roseate spoonbill, whose conservation story inspired this dinner series.

DINNER

TICKETS

$120 Per Person

As each course is served, SCWF Industry Habitat Manager Jay Keck will share information about each species and the conservation efforts needed to help them thrive.

THURSDAY, MAY 9 FROM 6-9:30 PM
